Expert in gender rights Pakistan Pakis	Project title:	Scoping Mission for Pakistan Gender programme FWC BENEFICIARIES 2013 - LOT 7: Governance and Home Affairs
Eligible nationalities: Start of project: Assignment duration: Deadline: 15/03/2015 Couldifications on experience of the project to promote gender equality and women's empowerment and to combat violence against women in one or several province(s) of Pakistan. Qualifications required: • Masters degree in gender studies, sociology, social anthropology, political science or other relevant field, or have at least 2 additional years of work experience in the equivalent area. • The expert should be fluent in English (written and spoken). • At least one of the three experts must be fluent in Urdu. • Knowledge of Pashto, Sindhi, Punjabi or other local language of Pakistan is an asset. General professional experience • 12 years of experience in the field of gender and women's empowerment or related field. Specific professional experience • The expert must have proven experience of working on gender equality in South Asia. • Previous work on women in the labour force and/or prevention of domestic violence is an advantage. • Experience should be gained through previous work not exclusively in the civil society sector. • She/He should demonstrate their ability to engage with a broad range of actors, including government and non-government entities and grassroots organisations, on sensitive topics related to women's rights and empowerment. • The expert should be familiar with grassroots consultation methodologies such as focus group discussions, most significant change method, etc. • The expert should have a good understanding of international human rights law and in-depth knowledge of women's rights in international law and practice, as well as experience working in this field in South Asia. • Experience in other developing economies with similar development indicators and gender gap indexes, as well as comparable levels of poverty and education may be considered. • The expert should have experience developing at least two EU or other European donor project designs and be familiar with the United Natio	Position:	Expert in gender rights
Start of project: Assignment duration: Deadline: Objective of the project: To assist the EUD and relevant government stakeholders in identifying possible designs for two projects or one combined project to promote gender equality and women's empowerment and to combat violence against women in one or several province(s) of Pakistan. Qualifications required: Masters degree in gender studies, sociology, social anthropology, political science or other relevant field, or have at least 2 additional years of work experience in the equivalent area. The expert should be fluent in English (written and spoken). At least one of the three experts must be fluent in Urdu. Knowledge of Pashto, Sindhi, Punjabi or other local language of Pakistan is an asset. General professional experience 12 years of experience in the field of gender and women's empowerment or related field. Specific professional experience The expert must have proven experience of working on gender equality in South Asia. Previous work on women in the labour force and/or prevention of domestic violence is an advantage. Experience should be gained through previous work not exclusively in the civil society sector. She/He should demonstrate their ability to engage with a broad range of actors, including government and non-government entities and grassroots organisations, on sensitive topics related to women's rights and empowerment. The expert should have a good understanding of international human rights law and in-depth knowledge of women's rights in international law and practice, as well as experience working in this field in South Asia. Experience in other developing economies with similar development indicators and gender gap indexes, as well as comparable levels of poverty and education may be considered. The expert should have a good understanding of international human rights law and in-depth knowledge of women's rights in international law and practice, as well as experience working in this field in South Asia. Experience in other devel	Location:	Pakistan
Assignment duration: Deadline: Objective of the project: To assist the EUD and relevant government stakeholders in identifying possible designs for two projects or one combined project to promote gender equality and women's empowerment and to combat violence against women in one or several province(s) of Pakistan. Qualifications required: Masters degree in gender studies, sociology, social anthropology, political science or other relevant field, or have at least 2 additional years of work experience in the equivalent area. The expert should be fluent in English (written and spoken). At least one of the three experts must be fluent in Urdu. Knowledge of Pashto, Sindhi, Punjabi or other local language of Pakistan is an asset. General professional experience 1 2 years of experience in the field of gender and women's empowerment or related field. Specific professional experience The expert must have proven experience of working on gender equality in South Asia. Previous work on women in the labour force and/or prevention of domestic violence is an advantage. Experience should be gained through previous work not exclusively in the civil society sector. She/He should demonstrate their ability to engage with a broad range of actors, including government and non-government entities and grassroots organisations, on sensitive topics related to women's rights and empowerment. The expert should have a good understanding of international human rights law and in-depth knowledge of women's rights in international law and practice, as well as experience working in this field in South Asia. Experience in other developing economies with similar development indicators and gender gap indexes, as well as comparable levels of poverty and education may be considered. The expert should have experience developing at least two EU or other European donor project designs and be familiar with the United Nations system and working methods. He/She should also be an excellent communicator both verbally and in writing, inclu	_	All nationalities
Deadline: 15/03/2015		March 2015
Objective of the project: To assist the EUD and relevant government stakeholders in identifying possible designs for two projects or one combined project to promote gender equality and women's empowerment and to combat violence against women in one or several province(s) of Pakistan. Qualifications required:	_	24 working days
To assist the EUD and relevant government stakeholders in identifying possible designs for two projects or one combined project to promote gender equality and women's empowerment and to combat violence against women in one or several province(s) of Pakistan. Qualifications required: • Masters degree in gender studies, sociology, social anthropology, political science or other relevant field, or have at least 2 additional years of work experience in the equivalent area. • The expert should be fluent in English (written and spoken). • At least one of the three experts must be fluent in Urdu. • Knowledge of Pashto, Sindhi, Punjabi or other local language of Pakistan is an asset. General professional experience • 12 years of experience in the field of gender and women's empowerment or related field. Specific professional experience • The expert must have proven experience of working on gender equality in South Asia. • Previous work on women in the labour force and/or prevention of domestic violence is an advantage. • Experience should be gained through previous work not exclusively in the civil society sector. • She/He should demonstrate their ability to engage with a broad range of actors, including government and non-government entities and grassroots organisations, on sensitive topics related to women's rights and empowerment. • The expert should be familiar with grassroots consultation methodologies such as focus group discussions, most significant change method, etc. • The expert should have a good understanding of international human rights law and in-depth knowledge of women's rights in international law and practice, as well as experience working in this field in South Asia. • Experience in other developing economies with similar development indicators and gender gap indexes, as well as comparable levels of poverty and education may be considered. • The expert should have experience developing at least two EU or other European donor project designs and be familiar with the United Nations sys
Masters degree in gender studies, sociology, social anthropology, political science or other relevant field, or have at least 2 additional years of work experience in the equivalent area. The expert should be fluent in English (written and spoken). At least one of the three experts must be fluent in Urdu. Knowledge of Pashto, Sindhi, Punjabi or other local language of Pakistan is an asset. General professional experience 12 years of experience in the field of gender and women's empowerment or related field. Specific professional experience The expert must have proven experience of working on gender equality in South Asia. Previous work on women in the labour force and/or prevention of domestic violence is an advantage. Experience should be gained through previous work not exclusively in the civil society sector. She/He should demonstrate their ability to engage with a broad range of actors, including government and non-government entities and grassroots organisations, on sensitive topics related to women's rights and empowerment. The expert should be familiar with grassroots consultation methodologies such as focus group discussions, most significant change method, etc. The expert should have a good understanding of international human rights law and in-depth knowledge of women's rights in international law and practice, as well as experience working in this field in South Asia. Experience in other developing economies with similar development indicators and gender gap indexes, as well as comparable levels of poverty and education may be considered. The expert should have experience developing at least two EU or other European donor project designs and be familiar with the United Nations system and working methods. He/She should also be an excellent communicator both verbally and in writing, including strong intercultural communication skills. Local expertise is highly valued. If you are interested in this position please send your CV in EU format under the heading "Expert in gender rights pla	_	To assist the EUD and relevant government stakeholders in identifying possible designs for two projects or one combined project to promote gender equality and women's empowerment and to indexes, as well as comparable levels of poverty and education may be considered. The expert should have experience developing at least two EU or other European donor project designs and be familiar with the United Nations system and working methods. He/She should also be an excellent communicator both verbally and in writing, including strong intercultural communication skills. Local expertise is highly valued. Other information: If you are interested in this position please send your CV in EU format under the heading "Expert in gender rights / Pakistan". When sending your application please include an indication of your desired remuneration (dayrate). Please also make sure that you include one or more telephone numbers. Only selected candidates will be contacted.	,	 Masters degree in gender studies, sociology, social anthropology, political science or other relevant field, or have at least 2 additional years of work experience in the equivalent area. The expert should be fluent in English (written and spoken). At least one of the three experts must be fluent in Urdu. Knowledge of Pashto, Sindhi, Punjabi or other local language of Pakistan is an asset. General professional experience 12 years of experience in the field of gender and women's empowerment or related field. Specific professional experience The expert must have proven experience of working on gender equality in South Asia. Previous work on women in the labour force and/or prevention of domestic violence is an advantage. Experience should be gained through previous work not exclusively in the civil society sector. She/He should demonstrate their ability to engage with a broad range of actors, including government and non-government entities and grassroots organisations, on sensitive topics related to women's rights and empowerment. The expert should be familiar with grassroots consultation methodologies such as focus group discussions, most significant change method, etc. The expert should have a good understanding of international human rights law and in-depth knowledge of women's rights in international law and practice, as well as experience working in this field in South Asia.
information: /Pakistan". When sending your application please include an indication of your desired remuneration (dayrate). Please also make sure that you include one or more telephone numbers. Only selected candidates will be contacted.		 indexes, as well as comparable levels of poverty and education may be considered. The expert should have experience developing at least two EU or other European donor project designs and be familiar with the United Nations system and working methods. He/She should also be an excellent communicator both verbally and in writing, including strong intercultural communication skills.
Contact: In// (2nt) su	information:	/Pakistan". When sending your application please include an indication of your desired remuneration (dayrate). Please also make sure that you include one or more telephone numbers. Only selected candidates will be